

LEAVE ONLY FOOTPRINTS

Fishing is the best! But some anglers need lessons in outdoor manners. Here are some things to remember when you are enjoying the outdoors.

- Take it out, bring it back. Remember to bring back any garbage you have. Empty worm containers, monofilament line, and food containers belong in the trash can. If none is available, put these things in your tackle box and throw them away at home. Trash looks bad and can be dangerous for wildlife.

- Fish where you are wanted. Watch for signs that say "No Trespassing." That means the person who owns the land doesn't want others on his land. If you really want to fish there, take Mom or Dad with you to ask the owner if you can fish. Otherwise, obey the signs and fish somewhere else.

- Respect other anglers. Give others who are fishing their space. Don't crowd others, even if they are really catching fish!

PLAY

Edited by: Art Michaels
Illustrations: Spring Gearhart
Photos: Spring Gearhart
Layout and design: Spring Gearhart
PLAY Subscriptions:
Jean Davis and Marty Miller
©2007 PA Fish & Boat Commission